Why is The Culture so Important in an Organization?

Organizational culture is defined as the underlying beliefs, assumptions, values and ways of interacting that contribute to the unique social and psychological environment of an organization. Why is the culture in an organization important, you ask? The power of culture is very important to the success and health of your company, your people, and your customers. The performance and the way the company is perceived by the environment and media are impacted by the culture.

Do you want to learn how to build a strong culture in your organization? Please watch the video above. Dr. Candace Goodwin was interviewed by Dr. Marie Djemo on Jodapris Live Talk Platform.

ABOUT US

The Marie Osako Foundation (MOF) is a nonprofit organization based in Chicago, IL, USA. MOF is fighting poverty and inequity here in America and Africa. The "Marie Osako Foundation" started in the year 2020 when Dr. Marie Osako Djemo took the initiative to help orphans and disadvantaged families by meeting some of their basic and educational needs. Dr. Djemo, being an orphan at a very tender age of 24, understands development organization that seeks to end ALL forms of human poverty by going through communities and closely walking with the world's most vulnerable people. Your donation of any amount will provide tuition fees, shoes, clothes, medical aids, housing, bedding, food, and any related primary human needs. You can also pray for this ministry.
